CRISIS IS AT HAND

Silver and Gold's Strength To Be Tested To-day.

FIGHT FOR TEMPORARY CHAIRMAN

Solid Money Men in the National Committee Will Recommend Senator Hill for the Place and the New Yorker Will Serve if Chosen.

Chicago, July 6.—The crisis in national democratic prospects will probably be reached this afternoon. It may be precipitated by the decision of the national committee as to temporary chairman of the convention. There is a well-grounded belief that the sound money majority on that committee will recommend to the convention that senator D. B. Hill of New York be temporary presiding officer. The knowledge that this was the intention of the committee is said to furnish the explanation of Mr. Hill's absence from the gold mass meeting Saturday night. He has thus escaped the denunciation which the silver men at the Sherman house have lavished with unsparring tongues to-day upon ex-Gov. Flower, Senator Gray, Mr. MacVeagh and District Attorney Fellows for their participation in that gathering. There is an openly expressed desire on the part of the silver men to force the fight from the beginning upon the temporary chairmanship, and George Fred Williams of Massachusetts, one of the latest claimed accessions to the silver ranks, is spoken of as a desirable eastern man to be put forward in antagonism to Senator Hill. Sound money men are willing, and Senator Hill is even said to be eager, to have the fight opened upon this issue. They assert to antagonize the recommendation of a national committee in the matter of temporary organization would be such a breach of democratic tradition and usage that no democratic convention could reasonably be expected to sanction it by a deliberate vote. Senator Harris of Tennessee appears to be generally accepted as the majority's choice for permanent chairman.

Want Hill To Decline.
Senator Hill was waited upon last evening by a number of prominent silver men who used all sorts of arguments to induce the New York senator to withhold permission for the use of his name as temporary chairman by the national committee. He was told that it would be unwise to allow his name to be presented only to be bowled over by the silver majority, which is expected to rule the convention. He listened respectfully to all arguments presented, but was unaffected in his position. As it was said to him, he declined to make any statement for publication as to his attitude, but others close to him said that he is not the man to give up a fight on the eve of a battle. It is believed that Senator Hill is the one man who can prevent a bolt by the sound money men of the east, if a free silver platform is adopted and a free silver man nominated by the convention, and that if the senator were to bow to the wishes of the silver leaders and refuse the use of his name by the national committee for temporary chairman he would no longer be in a position to check a bolt of the gold delegates. The efforts of the silver men may be set down as ineffectual.

Conference of Gold Men.
The gold democrats who are supporting William C. Whitney in the business that has brought him to Chicago held an enthusiastic meeting last night and discussed matters of importance bearing upon the treatment they might expect in the convention from the dominant silver men. The feature of the conference, which, like that of Saturday night, was conducted behind closed doors in the Auditorium hotel, was a speech delivered by Mr. Whitney at the opening. He paid his compliments to Gov. Altgeld, who, he claimed, was the dominating spirit among the silverites, and ended his remarks with this declaration, made in a ringing voice: "I take it for granted that no man in this room will ever consent to the subordination of the welfare of the country and the integrity of his party for any consideration. There was really little business of importance at the conference. Its main purpose was to discuss the various contests before the national committee and to listen to a statement from Mr. Whitney as to what had been accomplished since the gold forces began their active campaign on Friday last.

"FREE SILVER; GET THERE."

John R. McLean's Idea of What the Platform Should Contain.

Chicago, July 6.—John R. McLean favors eliminating the tariff issue from the campaign. In an interview here he said: "If I could write the democratic campaign it would be: 'Free silver; get there.' I would make it one bold stroke and quit right there. What the people want is more money and less misery. They care nothing about the tariff question; they are not worrying much about Cuba; they do not care a cent about the Nicaragua canal. They want action on this money question, and they are looking to this convention as a drought-stricken farmer looks for rain. We don't want a platform. All we need is a plank, and the briefer the plank the better. Declare for free silver at 16 to 1, name a presidential ticket, go home, and the people will do the rest. The people care for nothing else. Let us not mislead them by adopting a platform with a lot of rot about Cuba, Armenia, China, Venezuela, the Monroe doctrine, and all that sort of thing. Free silver, 16 to 1; more money, less misery; independence of Wall street and England. That is the kind of an issue the people demand, and this convention is going to give it to them. I don't believe the republicans will elect three congressmen in Ohio at this election. When a man like Grover Cleveland—and God knows I abhor him—can come so near carrying Ohio that he secured one elector, and 1,500 more votes would have given him the whole delegation, what could a good man do? I honestly believe that McKinley will not carry his own state. Let me tell you something else. McKinley will not carry Maine. Maine is not for a gold standard. Maine is a greenback state, and will cast her vote for any good democrat on a free silver platform. Such a candidate will carry every state west of Pennsylvania and south of the Potomac river."

THE COLORADO DELEGATES.

They Are Friendly to Teller and Some of Them May Vote for Him.

Chicago, July 6.—The Colorado headquarters is attracting much attention. On the wall adjoining the entrance there is displayed a large banner on which is inscribed: "We will pay 100 cents in gold for 50 cent American standard dollars." "Are there any friends of Mr. Teller in the Colorado democratic delegation?" was asked by a United Press reporter. "Indeed there are," responded B. O. Sweeney, one of the delegates-at-large. "Nearly every man in Colorado, I may say every one, without respect of politics, is a friend of Teller's, and if his name should come before the convention it would not surprise me if he were to receive some votes from Colorado. Discussing the situation generally, Mr. Sweeney said that some Pennsylvania delegates had been in the room talking in favor of Matthews. "That will not help Mr. Matthews any among our people," he said. "The gold men in the convention must not nominate the silver candidate. To do so would taint the nomination with a suspicion that would kill it in the west. Silver men must nominate the silver candidate, otherwise the west, which is largely republican in its old political tendencies, will be lost to the nominee."

Maine with the Gold Men.

Chicago, July 6.—Maine led off yesterday in the matter of organizing her delegation. A resolution was adopted authorizing the chairman to confer with Mr. Whitney and place the Maine delegation at the service of the sound money cause. After the meeting adjourned Mr. Holman called upon Senator Hill, who stated that he would probably be New York's representative on the resolutions committee, and had a talk with him about the action of the sound money men on the committee. Mr. Holman said the delegates were in favor of the nomination of Mr. Whitney for president, but what they would do in that regard could not be stated until after the conference between Messrs. Gordon, chairman of the Maine delegation, and Whitney. "We have organized," he said, "upon a sound money basis. As to the nomination, it makes comparatively little difference to me what the convention may do. We are going back home to carry the state for the democracy on local issues."

Gov. Patterson's Boom.

The Pennsylvania delegates are working heroically in behalf of ex-Gov. Robert E. Patterson, their choice for the presidency. Crowds filed their headquarters at the Palmer house this morning and visitors were told in eloquent and persuasive tones of the fitting qualities of Mr. Patterson for the presidency. The money question furnished ample material for exciting discussions between the advocates of both metals, and the Pennsylvania gold men put up a very lively discussion for the edification of the throngs gathered in their rooms. Patterson badges were liberally distributed about the Palmer house. Many members of the Pennsylvania delegation while declaring their unflinching allegiance to Mr. Patterson freely admitted that they see no hope for his success. Their aim rather is to gather about him the gold men, and, as a tribute, make him the choice of that element.

Robbed by Highwaymen.

Waterbury, Conn., July 6.—While B. L. Miller of North Adams, Mass., was riding in a hack on South Main street after dark, he was held up by three highwaymen and robbed of a gold watch worth $50 and $25 in cash. He was badly beaten about the head.

Gen. Booth's German Campaign.

Berlin, July 6.—Gen. Booth, commander of the Salvation Army, has conducted a week's exercises of the army in Berlin with a degree of success which the Salvation Army has never heretofore been able to achieve in Germany.

BLAND IN THE LEAD

His Boom To-day Appears To Be the Most Healthy.

BOIES MEN ARE NOT DISCOURAGED

Teller Shouters Profess Absolute Confidence of Success—McLean's Candidacy Given an Impetus During the Past Twenty-four Hours.

Chicago, July 6.—The first general caucus of delegates and alternates favorable to the candidacy of Mr. Bland was held in the club room of the Sherman house last night and after a session lasting an hour and a half adjourned to meet again to-day. The object of the Bland managers was to get acquainted with the delegates from other states than Missouri, and to begin the work of formulating the convention plan of procedure, rather than to make a full test of Bland's strength. Twelve states responded to the roll call and 100 delegates instructed for the Missouriian were present. From the figures sent to the secretary 250 unconditional votes were put down as a certainty on the first ballot. Most of the Illinois delegates were around the hotel, but only a few attended the caucus. Texas and Kansas were largely represented. A few vigorous speeches were made on the outlook from Missouri's point of view, and there was no lack of enthusiasm. Congressman Bailey said the solid thirty votes of the Lone Star state would be cast for the Laclede county farmer. Mr. Overmeyer of Kansas said his state was for Mr. Bland because no other democrat could carry the state in November. Secretary of State Hinrichsen announced a majority of the Illinois delegation for Bland and that under the unit rule the forty-eight votes of his state would be cast for the free silver pioneer of the party. There was little but Bland talk in the Sherman house when the delegates swarmed in, and the Missouriian's managers were elated over a report that twelve of the Tennessee delegates had been won over to the Bland persuasion. The other half are inclined to Blackburn and McLean. Gov. Culberson of Texas and Gov. Stone of Missouri came to look in at the caucus and meet delegates and friends. A letter was read from San Francisco stating that a silver club composed of republicans, populists and democrats was being formed, 1,000 strong, whose choice was Bland for president, and Morgan of Alabama, White of California, or Sibley of Pennsylvania for vice-president.

Booms Still in Full View.

The leading booms continue in full view. "Silver Dick" Bland's trumpeters are making the most of the promise of Illinois votes to their standard, and claim his nomination as assured. The Boies men are not yet here in full force. His "boomers" are to arrive in two sections to-day, when they will supply abundant enthusiasm to add to the picturesqueness of the contest. Meantime, the Tellerites profess such absolute confidence in the nomination and election of the Colorado senator (though his own state delegation stands committed to Boies) that they are already bargaining for a partition of the spoils of office between the original Teller men and the democratic allies. Mr. McLean continues to be named very extensively for either first or second place and has apparently gained considerable strength during the past twenty-four hours. Considerable opposition is developing to the holding of any caucus to determine in advance of the meeting of the convention what shall be the course of the silver men. Supporters of Senator Blackburn's candidacy took the lead in declaring their intention to refuse to enter any such caucus. They want the convention to settle the matter, and they promise to abide by its decision.

FAVORS REFORM IN CUBA.

Canopus Does Not Believe Autonomy Sufficient To End the War in Cuba.

Madrid, July 6.—Speaking in the lobby of the senate Saturday, Gen. Canopus said: "The government considers it dishonorable to grant Cuban reforms as long as the insurrection exists. I think reforms must be given without waiting for the submission of the rebels. It is not dishonorable for a father to keep open the doors to his home for his rebel son, even if he has not asked pardon previously." Senator Labra, leader of the Cuban autonomist party, replied: "I agree with you. I may even say, if the government will grant autonomy I am sure the rebels would submit. If autonomy is granted and you return to Cuba as captain-general I would go with you and give you my party's support, and pacification would be a fact." "I shall not return to Cuba," said Canopus, "even if autonomy is granted, which is improbable. Besides, I don't consider autonomy efficient enough."

New Battleships for Germany.

Berlin, July 6.—The admiralty is preparing plans and estimates for the construction of six first-class ironclad battleships, and credits for the building of these vessels will be asked from the reichstag upon the opening of the session of that body in November.

A MIGHTY GATHERING

Christian Endeavorers To Assemble in Washington Wednesday.

THEIR FIFTEENTH ANNUAL CONVENTION

Plans Practically Completed for the Entertainment of the Visitors—An Elaborate Programme for the Five Days' Religious Festival.

Washington, July 6.—The arrangements for the entertainment of the thousands of Christian Endeavorers planning to come to the fifteenth annual Christian Endeavor convention, whose opening sessions will be held in this city Wednesday night next, are practically complete. Three immense tents have been erected upon the ellipse located between the White House and the Washington monument, and known as the "White lot." Each of these tents will comfortably seat 8,000 persons, and, with the large churches of the city, will provide a combined seating capacity of nearly 40,000, available at any time during the convention. The city is dressed in gala attire; the convention flag and the Stars and Stripes forming the leading features of the decorations. Nearly 3,000 young people are upon the committee which is now busily engaged in putting the finishing touches before the expected guests arrive. An admirable plan of receiving, registering and assigning entertainment to the delegates has been devised. The reception committee is informed of the time and place of the arrival of each state delegation, and will send out members of the committee to meet the delegations at a distance from the city. On the arrival at the station another section of the reception committee will be on hand to conduct the party to the church which has been assigned as headquarters for that state. Thirty-three churches have been so designated, and on the arrival of a delegation at one of these churches most complete arrangements will be found for the care of the visitors.

An Elaborate Programme.

The convention programme is finer and larger than any of the fourteen that have preceded it. It covers nearly 300 separate meetings and more than 200 speakers, embracing the foremost divines and religious workers of this country, and many foreign lands will be heard during the five days of the convention. The convention opens with twenty-two simultaneous meetings held in twenty-two of the largest churches of the city. In almost every case these opening meetings will be presided over by the pastor of the church in which the meetings are held. On Thursday at 6.30 a. m., and also on every morning of the convention will be held thirty-three early morning prayer meetings, all using the same general topic, which is particularly appropriate for that day.

Meetings in the Tents.

Thursday at 9.30 a. m. occur the first meetings in the three mammoth tents, one of which is presided over by president Francis E. Clark. The principal features of these three meetings will be Secretary Fair's annual report and President Clark's annual address. Thursday afternoon is given up to denominational rallies, while in the evening nine meetings are provided in the three tents, one large hall and five churches, the general topic of all the meetings being "Christian Citizenship." The topic for Friday is "Saved to Serve," while the afternoon is occupied by officers' conferences, committee conferences, on advance endeavor lines, the regular meetings at the tents and churches occurring in the evening.

Chorus of 40,000 Voices.

On Saturday morning one tent is given up to the annual junior rally, while in the other two tents are to be held meetings for men only, and for women only respectively. On Saturday afternoon the many thousands of delegates will assemble at the east side of the capital building, where will be held an open air patriotic song service by a chorus of 4,000 voices, assisted by the famous United States marine band. Hon. Joan Wamamaker will deliver a brief address after which the Endeavorers will proceed in a body down Pennsylvania avenue to the treasury building where the march will be dispersed. On Saturday evening there will be no sessions in the tents for delegates; but there will be meetings in two of the tents for citizens only, and the meetings will be fully equal to any of the meetings for delegates. At this time the delegates will be holding receptions and rallies in their respective church headquarters. There will be no sessions of the convention on Sunday morning, with the exception of the early prayer meetings, but an opportunity will be given for the delegates to attend the regular services in the various churches, almost all of which will be supplied by prominent visiting clergymen. In the afternoon will be held twenty-eight denominational rallies, which comprise all the denominations that are represented. There will also be held a "Sabbath observance meeting" and an evangelistic meeting for citizens. Sunday evening will also be left open for attendance upon regular church services. On Monday, the last day of the convention, there are two meetings in the forenoon of the World's Union of Christian Endeavor, and one meeting in the interest of the suffering Armenians. Every day of the convention at noon evangelistic services will be held at the Central Union mission and in various other parts of the city.

Free Silver Resolution Tabled.

Boston, July 6.—The Boston Central Labor union yesterday, without discussion, laid on the table a resolution declaring for free silver.

NO RAPPINGS HEARD.

Mine Bosses Secretly Investigate the Report Made by the Rescuers at Pittston.

Pittston, Pa., July 6.—Through the orders of General Superintendent Law several skillful men were quietly sent into the shaft to verify, if possible, the hopeful story of the rappings. While disappointed themselves at having to disprove the illusion, the men admit this morning that after prolonged efforts and the use of every method of signaling possible, not the least bit of noise to indicate that their labor had been successful was heard. The work of the three mine inspectors to investigate the disaster began this morning.

The Story Revived Hope.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., July 6.—There is just a possibility that some of the men entombed in the Twin shaft at Pittston may be taken alive. The rescuing party who were at work from 10 o'clock Saturday night until 4 o'clock Sunday morning, on coming to the surface, reported to Mine Foreman O'Brien that they heard rapping on the rails of the gangway road which may have been caused by some of the entombed men. The rappings were clear and distinct, as if some one had struck the rails with a hard substance. The supposed signal was answered by a short silence, the answer came, clear and distinct. The sound seemed to come a distance of some 300 feet from where the rescuers were at work. When this news reached the surface there were only a few persons at the head of the shaft, but in a short time it was spread throughout the city of Pittston, and at daybreak an immense crowd gathered, among them relatives and friends of the victims, in whose heart hope had awakened. Further news from the pit has since been watched for, but beyond the fact that the rappings were heard there are no new developments. This morning the rescuers report that, in their opinion, they are within 300 feet of the entombed men. The shifts have been increased from twenty men to thirty-five men, who are relieved every half-hour.

WILL FIGHT TO THE LAST.

Cretans Determined To Be Lost Forever or Saved.

New York, July 6.—A special cable dispatch to the Herald from Athens says: Haz Hichaili, the oldest Cretan chief, on the eve of his departure for Crete says that the Cretans have decided to fight to the last the supreme fight and be lost forever or else saved. He himself has taken a solemn oath to fight to the end for annexation to Greece. The revolutionary government committee has called an assembly, which will meet probably at Varnos. Great exultation is felt here at the victory gained by the Cretans over the Turks, a victory of which it is said the Turks are hiding the extent.

Christians in Crete Elect a Provisional Government.

Athens, July 6.—As an outcome of the insurrection in Crete against Turkish rule the Christians of the island yesterday elected a provisional government, and decided to proclaim the union of the island with Greece.

Gloomy Day at Gray Gables.

Duxbury Bay, Mass., June 6.—The president's first Sunday at Gray Gables was rather gloomy. It was cloudy all the forenoon and afternoon. The first thunderstorm of the season passed over this section, and it rained very hard. Consequently the president remained indoors nearly all day. Early in the evening the president and Mrs. Cleveland drove over to Buzzards Bay station with Dr. Bryant, who took the train for New York.

Sons and Daughters of the Revolution.

Saratoga, N. Y., July 6.—The national celebration of the 4th of July by the United Sons and Daughters of the American Revolution was continued here yesterday. The day was perfect and the time up to 1 o'clock was spent mostly on excursions to historic points. At the above hour a patriotic, religious and choral service was held in Convention hall attended by fully 5,000 persons.

An Excursionist Killed.

Bradford, Pa., July 6.—Bert Harrington, aged 10, of this city fell from an excursion train on the Erie railroad near Poland Centre and was instantly killed. Some track laborers found the body lying along the side of the rails.

McKinley and the Money Question.

Berlin, July 6.—The liberal and single-standard newspapers express themselves as satisfied with McKinley's sound money declaration embodied in the platform adopted by the republican national convention in St. Louis.

THE CRETAN AFFAIR

Considerable Anxiety Manifested by the German Emperor.

CLOSELY WATCHING THE SITUATION

In Constant Communication by Wire with the Foreign Office During His Summer Cruise—Comment of the German Press.

Berlin, July 6.—The emperor before starting on his month's tour of the North seas on July 1 gave orders which are unusual with his majesty upon such occasions that wire communication with Berlin should be kept intact throughout the route which he had mapped out for his trip, and also gave instructions that in the event of his going to any point that was not linked in the telegraphic circuit reaching Berlin, a dispatch boat should be sent to that point with dispatches and for the purpose of conveying return communications to the nearest telegraph station to be wired to Berlin. Several members of the cabinet go with the kaiser. No repose is expected by any of the ministers during the tour of the kaiser, except in the case of the home department, in which affairs are quieter than any other branch of the government service. On the other hand the foreign office is in a state of anxiety over the developments in Macedonia and Crete. The Kreuz Zeitung, usually well-informed upon official matters, and particularly those connected with the foreign department, claims to know, upon authority, that the foreign office is chiefly concerned in the situation in Macedonia, and that the alliance of Serbia, Montenegro and Bulgaria under the approval of Russia means Russia's desertion of the ports.

May Result in War.

If, the Kreuz Zeitung adds, the rising in Macedonia becomes general, it will check Austria's long-prepared advance to Salonica, which port the Austro-Hungarian government has coveted possession of for years, and this would be likely to involve war. The officially inspired press in Berlin touch the matter with a grain of salt. The Tienna Vrondenblatt, an official organ, declares, however, in a leading article, that all of the powers are desirous that the trouble in Crete shall be settled at once, all of them being aware that a general upheaval in that island would lead to the breaking up of the Turkish empire. Therefore, the Fremdenblatt continues, the powers are determined to sustain the status quo at all hazards. The paper adds that neither a union of Crete with Greece, nor the granting of autonomy for the island, as claimed by the Cretan radicals, will receive the assent of the powers.

Menace for Greece.

The article above quoted was obviously inspired and contained a touch of menace toward Greece, from which country men and munitions of war are being sent to Crete in small, well-armored coasting vessels. In addition to this, a committee of Cretan sympathizers holds sittings daily in Athens, with M. Rivieri, a prominent Greek politician, as its president, and wealthy Greek commercial houses in the Levant, Paris and London are furnishing the money wherewith the committee is able to fit out the Cretan expeditions.

Turks Killed by Cretans.

The Vossische Zeitung has received advices saying that the Turkish warships in Cretan waters are totally impotent to prevent the landing of those expeditions from Greece, and narrates the capture of the Turkish torpedo boat Ediz, which was built at Dantzig for the Turkish government, was capable of developing a speed of twenty-two miles an hour. She was surprised during the night by the band of Cretans, who killed all of her crew except one of her engineers, a German.

The Kaiser's Speech Approved.

The emperor's speech on the occasion of the launching of the new German battleship Kaiser Friedrich III. at Wilhelmshaven has met with an echo of hearty approval throughout the empire, which foreshadows popular assent to a large increase of the German navy, one of the chief of the kaiser's desires. The Tagblatt in an article upon this subject expresses belief that the rearmament will certainly vote to grant the requisite amount of money to create a powerful navy and thus satisfy the wishes of the emperor. The Hamburg Nachrichten, Prince Bismarck's organ, compares the naval strength of Germany with that of England and concedes the hopelessness of so enlarging the German navy as to enable it to successfully support an attack upon the sea of England. The Naichrichten's article concludes by saying: "Although we cannot contest England's supremacy upon the sea, strong German navy would assist other means in paralyzing the extension of English power in the world."

Cash for Bland.

Chicago, July 6.—The Utah tion met and organized last night to support Bland's presidential nomination.

WHEELING AND HEALTH.

A Danger of Bicycling and How It May Be Avoided.

The greatest danger of bicycling, in common with other sports, results from the strain which active exertion necessarily brings upon the heart. That all important organ tends, like other muscles, to lose tonicity under the sedentary conditions of the average life, and readily becomes embarrassed if asked to perform an unusual work, as anyone who is not in training can assure himself by climbing a flight of stairs rapidly, or attempting to run a few hundred yards. Under such conditions the heart often doubles the frequency of its beat in attempting to dispose of the increased flood of blood that is given into it by muscular contraction. With a diseased heart the strain thus imposed may be hazardous. Several cases are recorded where a person with such a heart has fallen dead while riding a bicycle. But then thousands of other cases are recorded where persons have similarly fallen dead while riding in carriages, or while sitting in easy chairs at home. It does not follow, I presume, that we must all eschew easy chairs, carriages, and bicycles, but it does follow that anyone who has reason to doubt the normality of his heart may wisely consult a physician before deciding to undertake any active exertion, bicycling included.

Even the perfectly normal heart may suffer permanent injury if subjected to prolonged and excessive strain. This fact should be borne in mind by every voice in bicycling, for it is peculiarly easy to overdo under the exhilarating influence of this pastime. Presently the heart gains tone and strength, and is able to adapt itself to the new conditions, but until time has been given for this it is the part of wisdom to proceed carefully, "training on" gradually. Furthermore, the person who is wise will use reasonable discretion as to the amount of exertion he will undertake even when thoroughly trained. As we have inherent differences of strength, each one of us should be in some measure a law unto himself as to how far and how fast he shall ride, keeping well within the limits of his own strength and endurance, and remembering that the healthful fatigue is one thing, complete exhaustion quite another. The person who rides for pleasure and health and uses reasonable judgment will not feel obliged to cover ten miles in a half hour, or to pedal up every hill that some one else has managed to climb. Above all, he will eschew such tame and harmful performances as "century runs" and similar attempts to cover distance for the mere sake of covering it, regardless of consequences.—Harper's Weekly.

Seeing a Bough.

A burglar had the temerity to invade a London physician's consulting-room late the other night. The doctor found him there and threw at him the first thing he could lay his hands on. It happened to be a bottle of oil of pepperermint, which broke on the thief's back. The rascal got clear away, and the only clue the police had was the incident of the peppermint. The next day the detective smell of every suspicious character on their list, and they soon picked out the culprit. He still reeled with the stinging odor of peppermint when he was arraigned in court 24 hours later.—Boston Globe.

At the Dentist's.

A lady who suffers terribly with her molars, but lives in mortal dread of professional tooth extractors, one day rang the bell at the dentist's. A man in livery answered her inquiry:

"Master is not in."

The lady, visibly relieved: "Ah, how fortunate!"—La Lanterne.

IT NEVER FAILS.

A Professional Nurse in Middletown Says It Is Wonderful—The Top Notch of Records Reached.

Miss A. M. Ryerson, a professional nurse living at No. 7 Oak St., was interviewed by Donan's representative a short time ago. The lady kindly furnished the appended statement. "I think Donan's Kidney Pills the most wonderful preparation ever compounded. For years I have been troubled with kidney and urinary disease, but about three years ago it developed into lumbago. When I rose in the morning my back was always lame. I had to assist myself when moving about by grasping hold of objects for at least an hour or so. When I had one of my bad spells which generally lasted ten days I completely gave up. If I caught cold it settled in my back. Often when lifting a pan or my back would give out and I could not walk for an hour afterwards for pain. I tried everything I heard about and read about for it, some relieved me for a short time then back came the old complaint again. As a last resort I procured a box of Donan's Kidney Pills at J. E. Mills drug store. About the third dose I noticed an improvement and soon the pain left. I am got up in the morning and move around as briskly as I please without feeling either an ache or pain. The urinary difficulty is also removed. I feel that I cannot praise Donan's Kidney Pills too much. I have recommended them to a number of people and I shall always do so."

Donan's Kidney Pills are sold for 50 cents per box, or six boxes for $2.50; for sale by all dealers; sent by mail on receipt of price by Foster-Millburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

COMPOSITION OF SEA WATER.

It Holds All Soluble Substances Found on the Earth.

It is stated by chemists that sea water holds in solution every soluble substance found on the earth. It is easy to see why this should be so, and also why common salt should form the most considerable element. In the course of countless ages, the rains falling on the earth, dissolving and carrying down to the sea whatever is soluble in water, the mysterious chemistry of water, always at work, separating from each other elements not soluble in water alone, have impregnated the ocean water with scores of different substances. The conspicuousness of salt is readily explained by its abundance in nature, existing everywhere present, and also by the fact that there are beneath the ocean bed, as on land, extensive deposits of the substance, together with salt springs, which add their portion to the amount brought down by the rivers. Though seldom thought of in this way, the saltiness of the ocean is a marvelous provision of nature for the perpetuation of the human race on the earth. No putrefaction can occur in sea water, and were it not for this fact the waters of the ocean would, in a few hundred years, become a solid mass of decaying animal and vegetable matter and human life on the earth would be impossible.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

DON'T LIKE IT.

When Made in a Wrong Way.

"I wish you would say to the people some day that I don't believe more than half those who try Postum, the health coffee, for the first time get it right. In my family the first time it was served, the color was thin and the taste sort of watery without much character. Come to inquire, the cook had boiled it about 5 minutes instead of 15, so, the next morning we tried it again and had it boiled properly, then it came on with the rich, deep brown color of fine coffee. I drink my coffee with cream and sugar and Postum hit my taste very favorably. Now we are daily users of Postum, the food drink, and staunch champions of it. But if we had formed an opinion from the first trial, when the fault was entirely our own, we would have condemned it and been denied the use of a beverage we prize most highly and which is helping us physically as well as adding to our table comforts."

The above is almost a literal reproduction of a statement made to the advertisement writer of the Postum Cereal Co., Ltd., of Battle Creek, Mich., and contains a fact that is well to notice. We do not think he is quite right in his estimate of the percentage who blunder in the preparation of the grain coffee.

Our heavy sales in this city indicate that it is easily prepared and successfully. Now and then a person may be careless in boiling it and get a poor drink, carelessness with fine coffee makes it disagreeable instead of a pleasant drink. Postum properly brewed is delicious and nourishing.

There is but one genuine original Postum Cereal coffee, with a multitude of imitations offered as "just as good."

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

Tested.

"Since my daughter has given her consent, Mr. Sutor," said the old man, "I am inclined to look with favor upon your suit. But I must first be satisfied as to your financial condition and prospects. Would you be prepared, now, to lend me, say, $100?"

"No, sir," answered the young man.

"Fifty?"

"No."

"Ten?"

"No."

"Five?"

Mr. Sutor wavered slightly, but answered in the negative, as before. "Take her, my boy!" said the old man, vainly striving to conceal his emotion. "Take her, and God bless you! You've got a lot more sense than I thought you had!"—Harper's Bazar.

IN A "BULLA-CARTA."

The Peculiar Vehicle in Use in the Island of Madeira.

The master-at-arms went out into the Plaza and hired a bulla-carta. A bulla-carta is in reality a covered sled provided with curtains, and drawn by two oxen. For the proper management of these vehicles, according to Portuguese ideas, two men are necessary. One goes ahead, in order to check any ambitious intentions on the part of the oxen, and apparently does the guiding. The duties of the other are harder to define; he receives the fare incidentally, and urges on the oxen in those plaintive, wailing tones which he who has been to Madeira can never forget, and which incline him to believe that the Portuguese language is one of lamentation. As Mr. Keegan tersely remarked, everything is "on skates" in Madeira. The streets of Funchal are paved with small lava blocks, set on end, and polished to a degree that makes walking dangerous to people who wear the shoes of civilization. Hence the owners of the bulla-cartas do a thriving business with foreigners, especially up the slope, where a false step is fraught with no inconsiderable consequences.

It was up the hillside, or rather up the first slopes of the mountain, that the villa to which the master-at-arms was going was situated. Few visit Madeira who do not take that delightful ride up the mountain on horseback, and experience the delirium of the coast down, over the polished stones, in a wicker sled. Ascending, the traveler looks from his saddle over the high yellow walls on each hand into inviting gardens of tropical luxuriance, their shade trees often completely arching the way over his head. But the master-at-arms cared nothing about looking into the gardens, and had a sailor's prejudice against horses; he discreetly preferred the bulla-carta. Even the picturesque procession of wine-growers which he met coming down the mountain, with skins slung over their shoulders, made no more of an impression on him than if they had been a draft of new hands. He sat back behind the curtains of his bulla-carta, and smoked brown paper cigarettes, and meditated on the gravity of his mission; and he wondered whether the senhora would look with favor on the plan. Only once, when he had to turn out for a fat ecclasiastic from the convent above, was he aroused from these reflections. The priest was descending at a pace which would have defied a trolley car, but he sat in his sled with as much equanimity as if he were pronouncing a benediction, his guide deftly balanced on the runners behind.—Winston Churchill, in Century.

EXHIBITING A HAREM.

A bankrupt Pasha becomes a Domestic Barnum.

A genuine oriental harem is now being exhibited throughout Europe. The manager of the Berlin Panopticon has persuaded a pasha living in the holy city of Kayronian to exhibit his harem to the unfaithful. This is the first time a Mohammedan has ever dared to disregard the very strict laws of his creed in such a way. The story of how it all came about is quite curious. The pasha, the proprietor of the harem, became bankrupt, and worried much about his inability to keep up in due style his very numerous family. The manager, who happened to be in Egypt to engage attractions for the side show of the coming exposition in Berlin, heard of the pasha's difficulties, and prevailed upon him to accept a magnificent sum for a six months' contract to exhibit himself and family in Europe. The pasha, who had to choose between a certain fortune among the unbelievers or absolute ruin staring him in the face at home, was persuaded to accept the manager's offer, and thus his household is now to be seen for 50 pfennigs (12 cents) a head at Berlin.

Sure enough, the pasha showed excellent taste in the selection of his wives, all of whom are very good looking, and are considered great beauties from an oriental standpoint. There are a number of very handsome children from six to sixteen years of age, and some 20 female slaves to attend to all the duties of the household in full view of the onlookers. The most interesting part of the show is not the persons themselves, but the life they lead in the harem, about which much has been written, but very little known. Several of the pasha's wives have extraordinary accomplishments in the way of singing, playing musical instruments and dancing. They are very clever handworkers, and while away much of their time with embroidery and other similar occupations. They are, all told, 47 persons in this household.—Philadelphia Record.

To Make Sure.

The little four-year-old daughter of a North-sider knelt to say her prayers the other evening.

After invoking a blessing on all the members of the family she wound up by saying:

"And bless Mr. Hicksworthy, Amen." Then she rose up, but immediately knelt down again.

"I don't mean Mr. Hicksworthy that think he's so smart, Lord, but the poor old Mr. Hicksworthy that's only got one eye and always gives me candy, Amen."—Chicago Tribune.

MONDAY, JULY 6, 1896.

A very considerable percentage of voters who are soil tillers, influenced by a conviction, more or less deep seated, that the low prices which agricultural products are bringing is traceable to what the free silverites denounce as the dollar of contraction of values, the gold dollar, will support any ticket named at Chicago on a free silver coinage platform; and it is safe to say that as many Republican as Democratic farmers will be influenced to this.

But how is it going to be in the centres of population, the cities small and great, in which the wage earners dwell? Will they take kindly to this proposed low grade dollar, a dollar, which to-day worth but fifty-four cents in the markets of the world, must be received by them as a hundred cents in payment for their labor? It would seem they will not go into any such speculative venture, "will rather bear the ills they have, than flee to others they know not of." And yet, who can tell? They will be told that silver is the money of the people, that gold is the money of the capitalist; that the white metal cannot be monopolized by the money kings as is gold, to which is owing all their ills. This and much more of the same sort will meet their eyes in print and will be dangled in their ears from rostrums, to their great perplexity. Thus will their passions and their prejudices be played upon. Will they listen and believe, or will they call into play their sober reason and independent judgment? They may be captivated by the siren voices of the mine owners, their agents and their dupes, but we don't believe it. They have four months in which to make up their minds and strange indeed it will be if their final judgment is that fifty-cent dollars will do for American workmen when dollars worth a hundred cents are paid to their British fellows.

Senator Hill "stood off" in fine style three silver senators, Daniel, Harris and Jones, of Arkansas, who called on him, yesterday, and urged him not to be a candidate for temporary chairman, as they wished to spare themselves the pain of fighting against him and to save him from defeat. To which Mr. Hill made answer that if the national committee selected him as its candidate he was at its disposal, adding "I have had some experience in defeat as well as victory, and not all who are stricken in politics are necessarily slain."

TROLLEY EMPLOYEES' CLUB.

A Plan to Provide Rooms Where the Men May Meet When Off Duty.

The conductors and motormen employed by the Traction Company are planning to organize a social club with permanent headquarters where the men may meet and enjoy their hours off duty. The movement has the sanction of the officials of the road, and a meeting to effect an organization will be held in a few days. A picnic will be given at Midway Park to raise the necessary funds to equip the rooms.

Mary Powell Extension to New York.

On Wednesday, July 3rd, the Ontario and Western will run one of its popular Mary Powell excursions to New York. Only $1 for round trip. Train leaves Wickham avenue 7 a. m. and Main street at 7:02 a. m. Returning boat leaves Desbrosses street at 3:15 p. m. and West 22nd street at 3:30 p. m. Direct connection is made by steamer Mary Powell at New York with the Iron Steamboat Co. for Coney Island. Excursion rate, New York to Coney Island, is 25 cents.

THE "RAINMAKERS" PICNIC.

The Memmendorfer's Fourth Unsuccessful Attempt to Picnic in Its Park.

"If you want rain, all that is necessary is to get the Memmendorfer Germania to advertise a picnic and it will be sure to come," said a member of that organization, today.

A picnic was announced at the park on Saturday afternoon and evening, and for the fourth time this season the rain came and compelled the members and their friends to seek shelter in Memmendorfer Hall. They had a good time all the same. They are getting used to disappointment.

It has been suggested that "The Rainmakers" would be a more appropriate name for the organization.

A Long Bicycle Ride.

Charles and Mortimer Huber started Saturday, on a tandem wheel, and rode to Jersey City and thence to Ford Park, L. I., where they visited ex-Senator John Leavelle. They returned yesterday, on the east side of the Hudson to Fishkill, when they crossed to Newburgh and rode thence to Middletown. They covered 203 miles on the trip.

ALL CONFUSION AT CHICAGO.

Free Silverites Have Not Yet Settled on Their Programme—Illinois to Vote for Blaine—Romors of Defection of Gold Delegates.

Chicago, July 6.—Col. Evan Howell, of the Atlanta Constitution, says that although the silverites are determined to control the temporary organization, they have decided on no candidate for chairman.

The National Committee has received notices of several contests, including the entire Nebraska and Texas delegations. The National Business Men's League, a non-partisan organization, has established headquarters here, and its Secretary says it will have 4,000 members here tonight, to work for honest money.

The Illinois delegation has voted, 43 to 1, to support Blaine and as the delegation works under the unit rule this gives him 43 votes.

Senator Daniels will probably be the free silver candidate for temporary chairman.

The silverites are claiming that defections from the gold ranks will give them two-thirds of the convention without the votes of any of the contesting delegations.

Hill, Whitney, Cantor and Sheehan conferred to-day. Sheehan afterwards said that Hill declared himself a candidate for the temporary chairmanship.

HEAVY TRAVEL ON THE FOURTH

A Rush of City People to the Country—The Erie and O. and W. Roads Have All They Can Do to Accommodate the Rush.

Seldom, if ever, has there been such a rush of New Yorkers to the country to escape the Fourth in the city as there was this year. It began Friday morning when the trains carried hundreds of people and all evening trains were loaded. The Erie's regular trains all day Friday were crowded and all had extra coaches. Train 5 in the evening was run in three sections and train 7 in two sections, and forty crowded coaches carried 3,000 people to Shohola Saturday, while twenty coaches carried half as many country people to the metropolis from which so many thousands were glad to escape. Two hundred and one Middle-towners went on the excursion to New York.

Yesterday there was a Shohola excursion of seventeen cars and trains 5, 8 and 10 were run in two sections. As a result of the heavy traffic all trains were more or less behind the schedule time.

The Ontario and Western also carried a very large number of passengers. Friday, Train 7 left New York with 450 on board and train 5 had 430, while the other trains were all well loaded. The road's excursion to New York was well patronized.

A BIG DAY'S BUSINESS.

The Traction Company Carries Nearly 14,000 Passengers on the Fourth.

The Middletown-Goshen Traction Company carried 13,644 people Saturday, the largest number carried in one day, except one, since the road opened. Of this number about 12,000 were cash fares. Eleven cars were used on the park line. The park was crowded from early morning until late at night. The gymnasts gave three performances, as advertised, and in the evening there was a fine display of fireworks. The rain had no effect upon the crowd and the dancing pavilion was crowded all evening. Ball's orchestra, of Chester, furnishing the music. The day passed off without a hitch or accident of any kind, except that one of the engines in the power house became heated causing a shutdown of five minutes.

Legion of Honor Members to Visit Goshen.

Empire and Harmonia Council, A. L. H., will visit Goshen Council, this evening, on the occasion of Grand Commandeur McGowan's visit. Special cars will leave Franklin Square at 7:30 p. m. All members of the order are invited to attend.

Cures

"Cures talk" in fever of Hood's Sarsaparilla, as for no other medicine. Its great cures recorded in a convincing language of grateful men and women, constitute its most effective advertising. Many of these cures are marvelous. They have won the confidence of the people; have given Hood's Sarsaparilla the largest sales in the world; and have made necessary for its manufacture the greatest laboratory on earth. Hood's Sarsaparilla is known by the cures it has made—cures of scrofula, skin eruptions and eczema, cures of rheumatism, neuralgia and weak nerves, cures of dyspepsia, liver troubles, catarrh—cures which a doctor could never give, and which a doctor could not give, and which a doctor could not give.

It has been suggested that "The Rainmakers" would be a more appropriate name for the organization.

A picnic was announced at the park on Saturday afternoon and evening, and for the fourth time this season the rain came and compelled the members and their friends to seek shelter in Memmendorfer Hall. They had a good time all the same. They are getting used to disappointment.

The Merchants and Manufacturers' National Bank has declared a semi-annual dividend of three per cent.

The National Bank of Orange County at Goshen has declared a semi-annual dividend of five per cent.

An Official Visit.

Are You Tired

All the time? This condition is a sure indication that your blood is not rich and nourishing as it ought to be and as it may be if you will take a few bottles of the great blood purifier, Hood's Sarsaparilla. Thousands write that Hood's Sarsaparilla has cured them of that tired feeling by giving them rich, red blood.

Hood's Pills act easily and promptly on the liver and bowels. Cure sick headaches.

FATAL CANNON EXPLOSION.

An Ellenville Man Has Both Legs Shattered by the Explosion of a Home-made Cannon—Dies from His Injuries.

A most distressing accident, which resulted in the death of Philip Furbringer, occurred in Ellenville, about 11:30 o'clock, Saturday morning.

Furbringer, who was a mechanic of no small gifts, had made a cannon with which he was celebrating. When the parade began to move he was on the sidewalk preparing to discharge the gun when an officer warned him not to do it, but Furbringer replied that it was the Fourth of July and he could do as he pleased. Accordingly he is said to have placed a charge of dynamite in the cannon and touched it off. It was blown in pieces and Furbringer, who stood a-ride-side of the gun, had both legs so badly shattered that amputation was necessary. One of his arms was also broken. One leg was taken off above the knee and the other below. The operation was performed by Drs. Neal and Eastgate. He died about 5:30 o'clock that afternoon.

Furbringer was about forty-five years old and leaves a widow and three children. The grief of his wife when informed of the accident was most pitiable. He was employed in the knife works and was a member of the orders of Odd Fellows and Red Men.

Kimball House Co. was passing in the parade when the explosion occurred and William Cook was struck by one of the pieces of the cannon and badly but not seriously injured. Several others in the vicinity also received slight injuries.

FOURTH OF JULY ACCIDENTS.

Boys Who Were Badly Burned and Otherwise Injured by Celebrating Not Wisely But Too Well.

Harry Van Schnick, the fourteen-year-old son of Auctioneer Wm. Van Schnick, was badly injured by the premature discharge of a toy cannon, Friday evening. He was engaged in lighting the fuse when a spark must have fallen on the powder. His face and eyes were filled and it was at first thought his eyesight was ruined. Drs. Connor and Struble, however, who dressed the injuries, say the sight will not be destroyed.

BURNED BY A TOY CANNON.

Harry, son of Engineer John Van Kenon and James, son of Undertaker John Donovan, both residing on North street, ran upon a toy cannon, Saturday, just as it was discharged and both were badly burned. The Van Kenon boy was much the worse sufferer, one side of his face having been lacerated, while he was considerably injured about the eyes. It is believed the sight is not injured.

The Donovan boy's face was pretty well filled with powder and several hours of a physician's time were required to remove it.

MINOR MISDEEDS.

—Henry Miller, the young expressman and mail carrier, was badly burned on his left hand by the premature discharge of a blank cartridge in a revolver which he was handling.

William, the little son of A. R. Lindsay, had one hand quite badly burned by the premature explosion of a firecracker, Saturday.

Before the Recorder.

—Antonio Perotto, an Italian, aged twenty-one, was fined ten dollars for a assault on John Murphy, Jr. The offense was committed Sunday afternoon, on Cottage street.

—A plain drunk forfeited $3 bail deposited Saturday night and a Newburgh darkey who went to sleep on an East avenue lawn, was run out of town.

None of the Fires Cause Much Loss or Damage—A Small Building Burned on Irving Avenue—A Blaze on the Roof of a Harding Street House—Fire in E. C. Burr's Grocery Store.

The fire department has been called out three times since Friday night, but none of the fires caused much loss or damage.

The first one occurred at 1:20 o'clock, Saturday morning, in a small building in the rear of the residence of William E. Hirst, the carpet weaver, on Irving avenue. Mrs. Hirst was awakened by the reflection of the blaze and she aroused her husband, who sent in an alarm from box 18, at the corner of Grand avenue and Prince street. Eagles and Monihagens responded promptly, but the fire had gained too much headway and the building was consumed. A weaving machine, which was in the building was destroyed. The loss is small and covered by insurance.

SATURDAY AFTERNOON'S LITTLE BLAZE.

This second fire occurred at 3:40 o'clock, Saturday afternoon, in a small dwelling house owned by E. R. Harding and occupied by Adolph Schneider, on Harding street near the hat shop. The roof caught fire presumably from a firecracker. Extinguishers, who were first at the scene, extinguished the blaze with pails of water. The damage amounted to about $25.

FIRE IN E. C. BURR'S GROCERY.

At 4:15 o'clock, this morning, an alarm was sent in from box 46, at the corner of Academy avenue and Goshen street.

The fire was located in the grocery store of E. C. Burr at the corner of Academy avenue and Fulton street. Eagles were first to respond and a stream was turned into the store. The fire was confined to a small space back of the counters, where it started in some drawers in which matches were kept.

The stock was badly damaged by water and smoke, but the loss has not yet been determined. The building is owned by Johnson & Singard. The loss is covered by insurance with Case & Taylor.

A BICYCLIST BADLY HURT.

Thrown from His Wheel While Descending a Hill and Badly Cut and Bruised—Unconscious for Hours.

Colin Cox, the seventeen-year-old son of Charles H. Cox, foreman of the saw factory, met with a serious accident while riding his bicycle, Saturday. In company with Roy Conklin he had ridden to Chester, early in the morning, and at 9 o'clock they started for home. Just as Cox began to descend Banker's Hill the rim of the front wheel of his bicycle broke and he was thrown violently to the ground. He sustained many cuts and bruises about the face and head and was rendered unconscious. He was picked up and placed in a passing wagon, occupied by Misses Katie and Mamie Connor and Minnie Powers, of Newburgh, and was taken to Dr. Condit's residence in Goshen where his injuries were dressed. He was brought to this city on train 33 and taken to his home, No. 9 Montgomery street. It was at first thought that his injuries were very serious, but he is resting comfortably, today, and will recover.

AN ERIE TRACK FOREMAN KILLED.

Michael Barrett's Shockingly Mangled Remains Found Along the Lehigh and Hudson Track Near Greycourt.

The body of Michael H. Barrett, of Chester, foreman of an Erie "floating gang," was found lying on the tracks of the Lehigh and Hudson road, between Greycourt and Hudson Junction, at 4:30 o'clock, Sunday morning.

Mrs. John Ade, who was on her way from her home to her work at Alfred Road's, discovered the remains, which were horribly mangled, the head having been cut almost in two. From the position of the body it is supposed that the unfortunate man must have been killed by a west bound freight train which passed Greycourt about 1:30 o'clock that morning.

Barrett was about thirty years of age, unmarried, and boarded at the Washington Hotel, Chester.

His brother is roadmaster of the Lehigh and Hudson railroad. He was at once notified and the remains were taken to Warwick by Undertaker Lozier.

Coroner Decker empowered a jury and will hold an inquest this afternoon.

Drowned at Orange Lake.

Howard Jackson, a colored boy, was drowned at Orange Lake, Saturday afternoon. He was bathing in the lake and climbed upon a rock, from which he slipped into deep water. His body was recovered about two hours after the accident.

RECKLESS USE OF A CANNON.

Charged With Stone or Metal Which Crashes Through the Walls of a Hotel.

Some time during Friday night or early Saturday morning, while a party of boys were firing a small cannon near the Wickham avenue depot, a stone or some other hard substance crashed through the siding of the second story of the wing of the Arlington Hotel and knocked a portion of the plaster about a foot in diameter from the wall. The missile did not go through the laths, but fell between the outer and inner walls.

The cannon was stationed near the O. and W. oil house across the tracks and it must have been heavily loaded for it cut a hole two inches square through the siding as clean as if it had been done with a chisel.

It is fortunate it spent its force before reaching the inner wall for there were persons sleeping in a bed just at the point where it would have entered the room.

It is not believed that there was any intention of striking the building, but it was a piece of recklessness to load the cannon with any solid substance.

CULTIVATING PERSONALITY.

It is Well Enough to Avoid the Commonplace.

Cultivating a personality is all right, girls, provided you go about it in the right way. Don't, for instance, acquire it at the expense of self-repose.

You can all too easily become known as the girl who rumples her forehead, uses her hands like a deaf mute, punctuates her conversation with spasmodic little head jerks, and otherwise impresses her audience with the idea that she is indulging in a mild form of social athletics.

There is, of course, such a thing as a perfume personality, and, what is more, it doesn't, as some people contend, come from the exclusive use of soap and water. It comes from a liberal employment of sachet powder among your belongings, and, of course, it takes money to gratify the whim. 'Tis a notion, by the way, that must be very fastidiously manipulated or your friends will dub your tastes vulgar. Any sachet or scent suggestive of musk is distinctly bad form.

Priestesses of hygiene strive for a well-groomed personality. This is more pleasant to the disciples of body culture than the hall-marks of beauty or brilliancy.

Some young women attain a correspondence personality. Their writing-table is their vantage ground, and the white-winged messengers they dispatch by mail carry with them certain details of good breeding that invest the author with a charming atmosphere of good taste.

Dress individuality comes from many sources. Sometimes you can get it in one way; sometimes in another. A damsel with a neck that is perfection secures her dress individuality by ignoring high collars when universally in favor, and always wearing waists that are finished around the throat with a soft fluff of lace or ruffles.

Some little jewelry caprice, such as the exclusive wearing of cat's-eyes or turquoises, will stamp its patroness as one just a trifle removed from the commonplace.

Oh! it's a harmless trick of womanhood, this effort to dodge the conventional, and it is sure to please until it takes the form of unrepentant mannerisms in speech or person.

Then the misguided one becomes a target for criticism.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

BASELY DECEIVED.

This Man Has a Grievance Against the Weather Bureau.

It was one of the hottest days that usurped the privileges of balmy spring. The sun beat down until a mist of heat came from the stone walls and the brick walls. Toward a furnishing store a fat man, among Detroit's best-known citizens, made his weary way. In one hand he used two handkerchiefs as a mop, while with the other he kept up the busy action of a palm-leaf fan. Perspiration ran in merry rivulets down his shining face, to be absorbed in the wilted collar and collapsed shirt front that were immaculate an hour before. He was panting with the respiratory function of a porpoise and at intervals muttered expletives that hissed with steam. His hair looked as though he had been swimming, and his nose was beaded with glistening drops.

"Show me a straw hat," ordered the man of flesh as he settled down on the little round seat that at once suggested the frail stem of a great toadstool.

"Looks like rain," ventured the clerk, who is always under orders to be pleasant.

"Don't look a bit like rain. Weather forecast is for a dry spell. This one will do. Now I'll get some pie-plant leaves and put in it. Don't propose to have my brain baked."

An hour later he was on the wooded part of the island, handkerchiefs and fan still in commission. Suddenly, as if the heavens had opened, he was deluged with rain. The mucilage from the hat mingled with the extracted green of the big leaf, poured down over his head, neck and face, blinded his eyes, filled his ears and streamed over his hairy light suit. He swore outrageously as he groped his way to the landing, and by his hopelessly bedraggled appearance excited the passengers to say that the poor fellow must have been drinking to cool off and then went in bathing without thinking to take anything off. He was a study in water colors that might have been mixed by nature in a frog-pond. Now he is going around with a blank check trying to hire some big lawyer to sue the government for damages because it made false representations through its weather department.—Detroit Free Press.

Best Coffee.

Put six heaping tablespoonsful of powdered coffee—Java and Mocha, mixed—into a French coffee pot, pour one quart of boiling water over the coffee. When it has leached through turn it out into a hot quart cup and pour it over again, so it leaches through the second time. Pour the coffee into a freezer. Sweeten to taste and add one pint of rich cream. Pack the freezer with chipped ice, and when the coffee is concealed, take a large punch bowl, into it put a good-sized piece of ice. Pour the frozen coffee over this and cover the whole with whipped cream to the depth of three inches. Serve with a silver ladle in small egg-shell china cups.—St. Louis Republic.

Creamed Salmon.

Beat one cupful of milk in a chafing dish or double boiler, rub together a tablespoonful of flour and half as much butter and stir smoothly into the milk. Next put in one can of salmon, breaking it as little as possible, season to taste and serve as soon as heated through.—Albany Journal.

Carlstone Philosophy.

Dilly—Alas, this world is full of change.

Dedbrook—Yes; but confound it, the only trouble with me is that I can't seem to get hold of enough of it to go halfway round.—Town Topics.

A CASE OF HEREDITY.

And Now the Young Man is Sorry He Spoke.

He was a tall young man with auburn mustache and small, pointed beard. She was a slender girl, with Titian frizzles and calm blue eyes. They were returning from a four o'clock tea and they were fortunate enough to get a car which was not so overcrowded as to preclude the possibility of a seat for the young lady.

As the young man held to his strap and bent in the direction of the girl, he said:

"You remember we were discussing heredity at Mrs. Gildersleeve's?"

The young lady nodded.

"Now, across yonder is a case in point. Do you see the woman with a child on her lap?"

She looked and saw and announced that she did.

"Now, to my eyes that child is clearly of what one might call common parentage. There is nothing aristocratic about its lineage. You will notice that its eyes, while brown and expressive now, resemble its mother's in a marked degree. That resemblance will grow as the child gets older. They will lose their roundness and gradually assume the expressionless characteristic you notice in the woman who is holding it."

The car went around a sharp bend just then, and the young man's mind was diverted temporarily from the doctrine of heredity to a practical application of the doctrine which says that bodies continue to go in the direction in which they get started until that direction is changed by a superior force. I forget what the doctrine is called. But when he regained his equilibrium he began again.

"The child wears a tasteful coat, but that is accidental rather than a matter of selection. I have no doubt that its mother picked it off a bargain counter and made it presentable by cleansing the shopworn spots. My conclusion as to her lack of natural taste is strengthened by the fact that with the blue coat the child is wearing a pair of green mittens much too large for it."

"Then there is but little hope for the future of the poor little thing, I suppose?" said the young lady.

"None whatever, the laws of heredity being what they are," replied the young man, with unshakable confidence.

"I am very sorry to hear you say that, Mr. Buffington," said the young lady. "For the child is my favorite niece, whom my nurse is taking home after an afternoon's visit to Cousin Hildebrand's children."

The child's aunt seemed much amused at her escort's discomfiture, but he said little which had any relevance to the theme. What he thought may be imagined when it is noted that the young lady's father is worth $1,000,000, and this was really the young man's first opportunity to make an impression upon her, and that he was cherishing the delusion that he was succeeding in his effort.—N. Y. World.

ANXIOUS TO OBLIGE HIM.

How a Hunter in Arizona Succeeded in Capturing a Bandit.

"What would I do if I should meet a highwayman some night and he should order me to hold up my hands?" said a man, who has had some experience oughting it in the far west, repeating the question of a friend. "Well, I should put my hands up in such a hurry it would make your head swim. If you value your life it is wise to promptly obey the orders of a bandit that has got the drop on you and is showing you the interior of his gun. My experience has taught me this. I remember the close call I had in Arizona. I was hunting alone one day when a bad man hove in sight, and before I could realize his intention requested me to hold up my hands and keep them up while I dismounted from my horse. I knew if I attempted to reach for my rifle or revolver that would be the signal for hostilities to begin, and as the other fellow would get the first shot my chances would be slim. So I meekly erected my arms in a perpendicular position and got off my horse with as much alacrity as was possible under the circumstances. In trying to release my foot from the stirrup I frightened the horse and he started off on a run. Before he knew what had happened the animal had upset the bandit, and his pistol flew out of his hand. This is where I came in, and the persuasive eloquence of my gun induced the outlaw to march ahead of me all the way to our camp, and there we detained him until we could turn him over to the officers of the law. Now, you see, if I had parleyed with that Arizona desperado I probably wouldn't be here to tell this story."—Philadelphia Times.

DEAF MUTES DEFEAT ASYLUMS.

The Visitors Demonstrate That They Can Play Ball Even If They Can't Talk—Kicking at the Empire—The Game Won in the Seventh Inning.

Notwithstanding that nine of the players, who participated in Saturday's ball game, at the State Hospital grounds, were deaf mutes, there was no kicking against the empire than has been heard in many a day. The visitors started it by noise gestures, which, however, had no effect upon Mr. Wallace. Their quiet resignation and evident determination to win anyway, inspire or no inspire, soon elicited the sympathies of the spectators, and, as Mr. Wallace continued to decide close plays against the visitors, the crowd began to clamor for his removal.

He finally made a decision against the home team and every player ran into the diamond to protest. With crowd and home players against him, Mr. Wallace could stand it no longer and refused to continue to officiate.

His place was taken by "Jack" Deegan at the ending of the seventh inning, when the score stood 9 to 5 in favor of the Asylums.

Brogan opened with a three base hit after "Jack" had called three balls. Shea struck out, and Greene was given a life by Trovelli's error. Brogan scoring. Hora then went to first on called balls, despite Tierney's protest that Deegan was favoring the Mutes. Hayden was struck by a pitched ball, filling the bases. Malloy was sent to first on called balls for a run. Tierney was disgusted, but tried it again. He gave Cantillon a beauty, which netted three bases and sent in three runs. The Mutes scored a moment later on Bowman's single. Wamsnick struck out, and Brogan went to first for the second time, by being hit by a pitched ball. The agony ended when Shea forced him out at second base, Murray and Fish offbalting.

This made the score 11 to 9 in favor of the Mutes, who by the sharpest kind of fielding, prevented the Asylums from scoring again, winding up the last inning with a fine double play by Horn, Shea and Cantillon.

The Mutes put up a splendid game of ball, their fielding and base running being first-class. An excellent feature of the game was the lack of the usual senseless cackling of the coaches. These players use a code of signals which are just as effective as a lot of noise, and not once was a player caught napping on the bases.

The team has lost its star pitcher, Deegan, who has been signed by the Torrington, Conn., club. Their manager claimed that with him in the box they would have made a better showing in the first half of the game.

The game should have been won by the Asylums but for errors and wild throws in the sixth inning when the mutes made three runs. Several instances of stupid base running also cost the Asylums one or two runs.

The attendance was large, considering the counter attractions in the way of excursions and horse races.

We hope to see the Mutes again when we think we will have a different story to tell.
